GENERAL INFORMATION

Taipei

The capital of Taiwan is an exuberant, diverse city that blends traditional culture and cosmopolitan life. Taipei offers an array of significant sights, visitors are certain to have an unforgettable experience in this remarkable city! Please visit the website at <http://www.taipeitravel.net/>.

Taipei 101

Taipei 101 is the tallest building in the world, with a mass of shops on the lower floors. Taipei 101 has the highest-roofed coffee house in Taipei and many fine restaurants.

The National Palace Museum

The National Palace Museum is widely ranked among the top three or four museums of the world. It is the 1st place that should be mandatory on any itinerary to Taipei, especially following a recent renovation to the museum facilities.

Lantern Festival

Lantern Festival will take place on 21 February 2008. This “second New Year” is widely celebrated by families all around Taiwan. The variety of splendid lantern features different folk art techniques, impressing these arts and minds of the people. While you join the IOHA 2008 conference at Taipei, you will feel it's been a worthwhile trip.

Cuisine

True gourmets know that only in Taiwan is it possible to enjoy fine authentic cuisine from all the different regions of China. Restaurants serve all kinds of Chinese food. Above of all will be served when you join the banquet, reception and farewell party. All of this makes Taiwan a veritable paradise for gourmands. Taiwan's own native cuisine has also become known around the world, and if you try it just once you will remember it forever.

Hsinchu Science Park

Hsinchu Science Park, commonly called “Silicon Valley of Taiwan”, is established in December 1980, and its own respective core is focused on semiconductors. We've designed an itinerary to appreciate the Science Park's high-tech development, and let you behold the secrets behind the Science Park's success.
